That is the case here with "The Balcony" . If "The Maids" centers on the sexual fantasy and the social distortions that the class struggle accentuates, and "The Blacks" delves deeply into the "masks" worn to survive in the class and racial struggle, then "The Balcony" underscores the centrality of the real and illusionary in Genet's work.

Reality in Jean Genet's 'The Balcony'. Jean Genet's Le Balcon (or 'The Terrace') is an absurdist play in which the primary structure is the "philosophical battle in between impression and truth" (Savona 1983: 76) and this essay will examine some of the levels of reality within an absurdist and existentialist context in Genet's play.
